ID #:    -   -     PHONE: _____

DATE: _____ CUMMULATIVE GPA: _____

OVERVIEW:

Peer advisors are junior and senior HPHY majors who assist students during drop-in advising hours. Peer advisors are a vital component of the department of Human Physiology's advising team. Not only are HPHY peer advisors familiar with major and general education requirements, they are also trained to assist students with:

- interpreting their degree guide,
- helping with schedule planning, and
- developing graduation plans.

Peer advisors offer a perspective that professional advising staff cannot. From experiences with various professors/instructors, to balancing academic stressors and navigating UO systems, peer advisors are in the trenches and have valuable viewpoints to share.

JOB DESCRIPTION

- Analyze degree guides and inform students of their progress towards graduation.
- Develop well-balanced, accurate academic schedules.
- Generate graduation plans that take into account students' individual circumstances.
- Answer phones and schedule appointments.
- Attend team meetings (1/term)
- Participate in other events/projects (fundraising, develop HPHY apparel, etc.) as determined by the team.

Exceptional listening skills and attention to detail are required!

- 1. What are your career objectives/goals? What do you plan to do with your HPHY degree?
- 2. Why do you want to be a peer advisor?
- 3. What would you bring to the peer advising team?
- 4. What jobs, volunteer positions, clubs or organizations are you involved in?
- 5. What will your academic standing be in 2018/2019 (e.g.JR or SR)?
